SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club, is loved by Grace Farrell, the cigarette girl, but he doesn't know it. He marries Molly Winton, a bellied singer, and wins fame as a composer of popular songs. When his baby, Junior, is about two years old, Molly elopes with John Perry, Al's best friend. Al and Perry take the child Al adores and sell for France. Al, broken by the loss, becomes a derelict. Months later he drifts into Blackie's place at night, where he meets Molly. She loves him, shames him into the promise to stage a come-back. They leave the club together shortly after dawn, but as they reach the street Al staggers.

CHAPTER XXVI

"What's the matter?" Grace asked anxiously.

"It's just the effect of coming suddenly into the sunlight after all that has happened—back there. I'm not quite sure of myself and my direction. And I look so terrible tonight, when I was a beautiful young girl."

It was true. Al's appearance was painfully seedy, but Grace dismissed that.

"Well, soon fix everything," she said confidently. "And Al—?"

"Yes."

"I'll help you, you must give me your full confidence—tell where you're living and promise not to run away again."

"I'll tell, Grace," Al answered earnestly, in the tone of a child who wants desperately to make a good impression. "I'll promise."

Grace smiled in spite of her startled attempt to come a trifle stern.

"Well, then, come along."

As they strolled along the silent streets, with Grace occasionally sending a happy glance up into Al's face, she could not help but realize how their positions were reversed from the time when she had first known him. Then she had been a frightened child and big, generous Al had protected her from the rowdy crowd at Blackie's place. Now she was almost leading that same man as if he were a child, protecting him and encouraging him constantly. Her heart was ready to burst with pride and love.

"Where do you live?" she asked.

"It's over there," said Al, vaguely indicating the East Side. "You know"—he paused irresolutely—"I hate for you to walk over there. It's such a dump. Just a rickety, cheap hotel—almost like a flop house."

"That doesn't matter to me," said Grace quickly, "but if you'd rather go home alone, all right. Only don't think I care about your clothes or where you live, or anything like that. I just care about you."

There was no mistaking the look in Grace's eyes—Al realized at last that she loved him. Yet he marvelled at it—how could she love a down-and-outer like him? He felt a rapid throb under his dilapidated vest, an emotion he had not known for a long time. He wanted to put his arms about her and tell her how much she meant to him, but he held back.

back. This was neither the time nor the place.

"Before you go home," suggested Grace, "walk over to the Square with me. I live near there. We can sit on a bench and talk for a while. It will be good for you."

Al nodded. Presently they emerged from the canyons of streets to the wide green expanse of Washington Square.

"See how beautiful it is," said Grace. "I thought it would make you feel better. The leaves are turning red and yellow. And see how nice the green bushes look passing under the trees. Here, we'll try this bench."

Al sat down and relaxed, his eyes half closed. The autumnal morning sunlight slanted down from between two skyscrapers, spreading fan-shape across the level expanse and lighting the white arch. Italian slum children played on the south side, while in the northern part of the Square the children of the rich toddled about, under the watchful eyes of nurses.

"You say you live near here?" Al asked finally.

"Yes, just around the corner on Washington."

"Oh yes." Some hint of Grace's rather bleak and lonely life was borne home to Al in that one sentence—"I have a room." She had a room but, like thousands of other girls in the metropolis, she had no real home, no family, nothing much but dreams. Yet she lived bravely and without murmuring, thought Al, while he—The sentence remained unfinished.

He rose. "Grace, you're the most wonderful girl in the world. I know it—last night. We'll talk a great deal about that later. But now you must go home and get some sleep. I'll go my way and—I'll see you tonight at Blackie's."

Grace stood before him, eyes glowing. "Thank you, Al," she whispered. She felt her head seized. Suddenly she leaned over and kissed it.

"Bye-bye, little one, it's I who should do the thinking. . . . You'll see me tonight and, if clothes can make a difference, you'll see a different person. You just wait! I'll know Al Stone in his glad garments. And listen—you see that hat over there—the white one?"

"Yes."

"That will be my address tomorrow. There'll be near each other and I can walk home with you every morning from Blackie's place. Tell Blackie I'm coming over to try out with his show if he'll give me a job."

Al was walking away, with Grace staring after him. He strode along briskly now and when he reached the edge of the Square he turned to wave good-bye to the intent little figure. For a moment Grace waited after he had disappeared, then she turned the way toward her own home. Passers-by who saw her knew that one girl had found happiness.

Al had over-estimated his strength in keeping up that rapid pace. He maintained it until he reached his hotel bedroom, then he sat down on the side of the bed, verging on physical collapse. The room's dinginess and the feeling communicated of the life he had been leading, brought a sudden wave of depression. But he fought it off, rose and began pacing up and down.

"I won't be licked," he told himself sharply. "Throw that little girl down after all she's done for me—never!"

He quickly opened a bureau drawer, took out an old sock and drew forth a roll of bills. The bills were quickly stuffed into his coat pocket, then he ran from the room as if escaping from a scene of pestilence.

An hour later he entered a men's haberdashery. He was shaved and his hair was trimmed. A clerk looked at him suspiciously, but finally decided to approach.

"I want some clothes. Shirts, ties, socks, shoes, suits—the whole thing."

"Yes?" The clerk's nose rose a trifle higher.

"It's all right," said Al, and added simply, "I have money." When he drew out his roll of bills the clerk's eyes bulged.

"I want the best you've got—and suppose we start on a blue serge suit. I always liked blue serge. Then I want some tweeds and some evening clothes."

The clerk saw a big commission ahead and stepped lively to supply Al's wants. But he couldn't help wondering if this bun had stolen the money or if some rich relative had suddenly died and left him a fortune. As they went from counter to counter Al's sense of shame at his run-down appearance left him; he even began to take a keen delight in the wonder he excited among the clerks and the other customers.

Grace had gone home to sleep as Al suggested. It was sleep broken by rosy dreams, during which she seemed to be floating gently under a clear blue sky. When she awoke it was afternoon. Soon she was hurrying toward Blackie's club.

Now it was well on toward midnight and Al had not appeared. Grace bent over her accounts and checked the waiters as they passed by.

her. Was Al going to fail her; would he prove too weak to make the comeback after all her efforts? She drove the thought resolutely from her.

Child Slavery in China

Authorities Find It Very Difficult To Deal With Situation

In connection with the introduction of a bill into the Hong Kong legistature for the abolition of the "coolie" system, whereby little girls are sold into domestic slavery, it was said recently that the system could not be done away with by legislation, but required the education of public opinion.

In effect this was the explanation of the failure of the British Government to wipe out this blot. Forty years ago Lord Kimberley, the then governor of the colony, found that while by law there was no slavery in practice it existed. From then onwards there have been constant proclamations making the purchase of children between the ages of four and 14 illegal.

The obvious evasion was that by religion and tradition it was customary to "adopt" children as the companions of the wealthy or even as servants. Certain money passed, but that was only as a form of compensation.

In some ways, it was argued, the children were better off with their new owners as they often came from poor homes. However, it is common knowledge that these children were, and still are, treated with cruelty, made to serve as drudges, and even employed for worse purposes.

Big Project Being Planned

Engineers Discuss Reclaiming Vast Section Of Submerged Europe

A project for reclaiming a vast section of Europe capable of supporting 20,000,000 people and which sank into the North Sea 500,000 years ago is being discussed by engineers. If ever materialized its sponsors believe the scheme would go far towards solving Europe's problem of over-population.

Technically the plan is feasible, say the engineers. They do not, however, attempt to forecast how the political problem of dividing the land among England, Belgium, Holland, Denmark and Germany would be solved.

The project contemplates a huge dam, some 500 miles long from Spurn Head, England, to the northern end of Denmark, and another dam across the English Channel from Dover to Calais. It is figured that the sea dam would seal upon a former mountain's chain which is now from 23 to 47 metres (75 to 154) feet below surface.

Back of the barrier would be land covered by an average of 90 feet of water. The scheme, say the engineers, would be comparatively easy. Then there would appear a great stretch of land which formerly connected England with the continent and which is believed to be rich in agricultural and mineral possibilities.

Anticipated Modern Science

Cure For Paralysis Known To South African Witch Doctors

One of the strongest unguents in the world is that of South African witch doctors. The Durkums, as the organization is known, was formed in order to protect the native medicine men of South Africa. Though the new frowns on them, these witch doctors still have a big hold on the natives, and have, it must be admitted, some remarkable cures to their credit.

In part, these cures may be due to the knowledge of the healing properties of herbs—there are old people, even in this country, who, by means of similar knowledge of simples are often consulted in cases of illness. But the witch doctors have also anticipated modern science in at least one remarkable instance—they were curing general paralysis by means of the bite of malaria-carrying mosquitoes for years before the same treatment was adopted by medical men.

Corns are caused by the pressure of tight boots, but no one need be troubled with them long when so simple a remedy as Holloway's Corn Remover is available.

Effect Of Sun Spots

Four series of sun spots from the province of Quebec, measured at the Dominion Observatory, indicate in the annual growth-rings a variation corresponding to the sunspot period of 11.5 years, with the maximum growth on the average 22 per cent. greater than the minimum growth.

A number of Canadian Shorthorn cattle are going to Manchuria, having been purchased by an agent of the South Manchurian Railway with a view to improving the native cattle of Manchuria, according to the Agricultural Department of the Canadian National Railways.

Zipper Supposed To Be Modern Invention Used By Vikings

Bobbed hair was the fashion 1,000 years ago, and the Vikings had already invented a "zipper." These interesting facts, together with many others of greater scientific importance, have been established through the discovery near Tilsit, East Prussia, of a great Viking burial place, dating from the ninth, tenth and eleventh centuries.

Thus far eighty graves have been opened, and these are but a small part of the total. The finds are unusually rich. Each man's grave contains three or four iron swords, as many as 12 dozen lance heads and knives, bronze belt buckles, stirrups and snaffles. The women's graves also contain bronze bracelets, necklaces, cleverly worked brooches and headbands. In one of these graves a young woman with bobbed hair was found, as also "zipper" buttons, which were used in place of the buttons or pins to secure garments. The finds will be placed in the Prussian Museum, in Königsberg.

WHEN YOUR BABY CATCHES A COLD

In spite of all precautions' little ones will take colds—especially during the changeable days of our Fall season. When the first symptoms appear—sneezing, redness of the eyes, running nose—Baby's Own Tablets should be given at once. They will rapidly break up the cold and prevent more serious complications.

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the home always feel safe, for they are like having a doctor in the house. They are gentle but thorough laxative that sweeten the stomach and regulate the bowels, thus driving out constipation and indigestion and relieving the baby of the many childhood ailments which are the direct result of a clogged condition of the bowels or sour stomach. They are absolutely safe—being guaranteed to contain no drug at all harmful to even the youngest babe. They cannot possibly do harm—they always do good.

Tourist Association

Canadian Association Of Tourist and Publicity Bureaux Is Formed At Montreal

A new association to be known as the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureaux, with headquarters in Montreal, was formed at the concluding meeting of the convention of Canadian tourist, convention and publicity organizations. The new body, which will be represented from coast to coast, will take out a Dominion charter.

Hon. Mr. Justice Arsenault, representing the Prince Edward Island Publicity Association, was elected president.

Cheapest Of All Oil's.—Considering the qualities of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil it is the cheapest of all preparations offered to the public. Canadian Association With $2,000,000 Annual Budget Meet In Ottawa

Very quietly, and without benefit of publicity, agencies that expend annually $2,000,000 in promotion of Canadian health, met in Ottawa the other day, to discuss ways and means of co-ordinating their efforts and eliminating overlapping.

So successful was this effort to bring into the field of national health, the same spirit of co-operation that is making giant business mergers one of the signs of the times, that the fourteen agencies participating are considering adopting a set, annual date for regularly pooling their wisdom and mutually arranging their programme.

The meeting was called by Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Pensions and National Health, and presided over by Dr. J. A. Amyot. A list of the organizations represented, follows:

Red Cross, Canadian Social Hygiene Association, Canadian Tuberculosis Association, Canadian Social Hygiene Council, Canadian Council on Child and Family Welfare, St. John's Ambulance Association, Canadian Dental Hygiene Council, Canadian Nurses' Association, Canadian Medical Association, National Council of Women, Canada and Public Health Association, Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene, Federation of Women's Institutes, Federation of French-Canadian Women and Victorian Order of Nurses.

One Woman In Eight Dies From Cancer

White Male Mortality One In 11, Says Canadian Radiologist

Out of every eight Canadian and American women, one dies of cancer, according to Dr. Gordon R. Richards, Toronto, chairman of the convention of the Radiological Society of North America, held in Toronto, recently. Dr. Richards is director of the Department of Radiology in the University of Toronto.

Conditions, however, are steadily improving.

"Even within the past five years, improvements in methods of treatment have increased the number of cures of cancer in women very greatly," he said, "and cured of throat and mouth cancer have increased by twenty-five per cent. during that period."

Dr. Joseph Coll Bloodgood, of Johns Hopkins University, and one of the most renowned cancer specialists in the world—who also attended the convention—stated in a recent interview that public education is, today, the greatest weapon in the fight against this disease.

Why He Honked

A young road-hog known for his determination to never to be overtaken was going at great speed one day when he heard an insistent "honking" behind him.

He turned and saw, just on his hind wheels, a baby car driven by a well-looking individual.

Back he turned to his wheel, down went the accelerator pedal, and up rushed the speed indicator.

Seventy-eight miles an hour were touched, but still the honking continued.

At last worn out, the speed maniac slowed down and drew to the side of the road.

"Come on, then, if you must pass," he cried.

"I'm sorry," said the driver of the baby car, "but I'm hooked on."

Little Helps For This Week

"Let us walk by the same rule, let us mind the same thing."—Phil. 1:18.

Life hath a load Which must be carried on, and safely may. Yet keep those cares without thee; let the heart Be God's alone, and choose the better part.

Through all thy actions, counsels, and discourses, Let mildness and religion guide thee out. If truth be thine, what needs a brutish force? But what's not good and just ne'er go about.

—Henry Vaughan.

Elizabeth Fry drew up for her own guidance the following rules:—

1. Never lose any time. I do not think that lost which is spent in amusement or recreation every day, but always be in the act of being employed.

2. Never err the least in truth.

3. Never say an ill thing of a person when thou canst say a good thing of him; not only speak charitably but feel so.

4. Never be irritable or unkind to anybody.

5. Never indulge thyself in luxuries that are not necessary.

6. Do all things with consideration; and when thy path to act right is difficult, put confidence in that Power alone which is able to assist thee, and exert thy own powers as far as they go.

More Asthma. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy shows the death knell of this trying trouble. It stops the awful choking and painful breathing. It guards against night attacks and gives renewed ability to sleep and rest the whole night long. Much is claimed for this remedy, but nothing but what can be demonstrated by a trial. If you suffer from asthma try it and convince yourself of its great value.

Heaviest Snowfall In Quarter Century

Eight Days Almost Continuous
Storm Causes Discomfort.
Finer Weather Now

After a week of almost continuous snowstorms, Sunday afforded a break and enabled householders to clear up the snow around the premises and to chop some of the ice from the roofs of their homes. Saturday night gave indication that a Chinook might blow, the wind veering to the west, and snow did actually commence to thaw between 9 and 11 p.m. Sunday morning dawned mild, but after 7.30 the wind veered to the east again, though the sun came out brightly, encouraging many to hope for a spell of fine weather.

The residential sections were alive with people out of roofs, and everyone patted themselves on the back with having done a very necessary job if the inside plaster and wall-paper was to be saved.

But late Sunday night another light storm commenced, and on Monday morning it had developed into a driving blizzard with a cold east wind. This increased the difficulties of getting around town, and caused further anxiety for owners of buildings, the weight of snow on the roofs increasing to alarming proportions. So thick was it that it acted as an insulation, keeping the warmth of the roof from escaping, and thereby causing the snow to thaw and form solid ridges of ice along the eaves, which caused water to back up through the shingles and seep into the houses.

The school buildings suffered, especially Central, water pouring into some of the rooms, and on Tuesday men were employed to clear off the immense weight of snow and ice.

The approach to the depot was blocked, and had it not been for Frank Graham, Sr., who kept a section of the sidewalk clear so that the mail wagon could go back and forth, people would have had to clamber through snowbanks waist high. In fact strangers stepping off the train imagined they had landed anywhere but in a civilized community when they plunged into the snow. Efforts should certainly have been made by the town to see that the principal thoroughfares were kept passable.

Coal wagons had a hard time making deliveries, which was increased by some of the lanes being blocked by people shovelling snow from the rear of buildings into the lanes. John Salvador and Harry Antle with their teams worked hard to keep people supplied, and one felt pity for the struggles of their horses to overcome the drifts.

William Antrobus and J. Filaflo, dairymen, never missed a delivery, and they certainly had a hectic week plunging every morning for over a week through freshly drifted snow. Consumers of milk may well feel thankful that their deliveries were made regularly in the face of such unprecedented conditions.

Tuesday was the first day of relief and people began to move around in comfort. There is still work for plenty of men to help in clearing away snow and opening up blocked sidewalks. At Coleman Garage on Tuesday truck-loads of snow were hauled away in order to give access to cars, while Sam's Service Station was closed on Tuesday afternoon when the reporter was on his rounds.

The provincial government has a snow plow at work keeping the road open between the Pass towns, and considering this is the only highway through the southwestern part of the province leading into British Columbia, drivers of cars feel that the government should continue this service throughout the winter, and keep it open to the boundary, as it is reported that the B. C. government intends to keep their highway open. Gasoline tax, license fees and other taxes warrants this service. Frank Barringham, auto livery owner, stated he was asked to contribute $30 towards keeping the road open. If this is true, then the demand is unfair, and he stated he would rather lay up his car than pay such a price. Walter Scott, secretary of Blairmore Board of Trade, stated he understood that the cost of keeping the road open was to be borne by the provincial government.

There has been some laxity in dealing with the situation, and in view of men requiring work to alleviate distress, the public naturally looked for more aggressive action on the part of local and provincial authorities in meeting the emergency.

In view of the fact that there is very liable to be more trouble during the remainder of the winter, with the danger of a serious flood in the spring, work should be well organized well in advance to cope with any emergencies that may arise. Money spent in prevention may save thousands of dollars later on in town.

SAN FRANCISCO TO COLEMAN—LONG DISTANCE, PLEASE!

Mrs. C. F. Dunlop received a welcome surprise last Friday night at 10.30 when the telephone bell tinkled and she heard the voice of her daughter Inez, who is a special nurse in Dante Sanitarium, San Francisco. The connection was made through Lethbridge, and Miss Dunlop, in a letter which was received a few days later, stated that it took only half an hour from the time she placed the call till she was hooked up with Coleman. The conversation was heard quite distinctly by both parties, it not being necessary to make any repeats during their talk.

To a widow's Grief is always added Worry. There are funeral expenses to pay; doctors' bills; and legal costs—these are the common lot.

But the farmer's widow has handicaps unknown to even the most unfortunate of her city sisters. For the seed is unown; or the crop unharvested—and that means hiring help. And there is the interest on the mortgage—and little to meet it with. And there are implements to buy; stock to purchase; seed to obtain—

Sell? But it is the wrong season, and if she moved to town, for what task is she fitted and where could she go? No! Her whole hope of comfort and independence for herself and her children is on the farm—if only there be ready money to meet the immediate need.

And that is exactly what life assurance provides. Here is what a Sun Life of Canada policy assures: A man of 35, by payment of a modest premium yearly (decreased every year by dividends on the current scale starting at over $65 the second year) can assure that his widow or children receive $5,000 in cash at his death and, in addition, a minimum income of $30 a month for five years while they gain experience and re-adjust themselves in the surroundings they know and love.

The Sun Life provides a policy to meet every need. Consult our representative in your district. It entails no obligation.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

A few days remain for Christmas shopping. Stores that desire to give additional facilities for Christmas buying have decided to remain open till a later hour in the evenings, which will be appreciated by those whose duties during the day prevent them from spending the time in shopping. But of course there will be the last minute rush. The advice as usual is "Do your Christmas shopping early!" Four days only are left.

What a difference there is in people. Some are aggressive and on their toes to increase business. Others are content to take just what drifts in through the front door, and by their attitude give the impression that they are not concerned very much. With the facilities, aggressive advertising and competition in service by city houses which the retailer throughout the land has to compete with, he must use every energy and make every opportunity count for counteracting this competition. A lively and pleasing attitude, a cheery appearing store and the cultivating of personal contacts are factors which he can use to good advantage in beating off the inroads of mail order competition. Above all, people shop where they are invited to.

The Salvation Army is doing a good turn in organizing a Christmas dinner for needy children. Captain Fowler and Lieut. Zoutendyk are to be commended for their effort, as well as those who are contributing in goods, and assisting in other ways. It will be a busy day for the Army officers, but they will gain a great deal more pleasure out of their day's work than by allowing the opportunity to pass of cheering a good many young hearts.

Cheering also is the news despatched from the provincial government at Edmonton as a result of a recent conference between Grant Hall, vice-president of the C. P. R., and D. C. Coleman, vice-president of western lines, that the company will place orders for sufficient coal to give at least three days work a week in order to relieve unemployment in the Crow's Nest Pass. It is hoped that the policy of spreading the orders over a much longer period than has been the practice will be continued. One of the finest Christmas presents which the miners could receive would be the assurance of much steadier work than he now enjoys.

Though this is the festive season, a reminder to Board of Trade members, or business men who should be, is that many have not paid their membership dues for the year. It should not be necessary for the Board executive to go around asking business men to pay their fee. Be a member of the only business men's organization in town by leaving your fee with Mr. Rippon, secretary, at the bank.

Lieut. Gov. Egbert, one time president of Calgary Board of Trade, makes interesting reference to the value of a Board of Trade in a community. Read it and apply it to Coleman:

"The incalculable good that an active board of trade can accomplish in a community is so great that no progressive community can afford to dispense with its services."

"I know, from past observations, what a factor it has been in bringing the business men in closer contact with each other, producing a more sympathetic feeling and a greater desire to help each other. Every citizen in a city or town profits directly or indirectly by the activities of a live board of trade."

—Lieut. Governor Egbert.

There is joy in accomplishment. Though you may not have accomplished all that you desired, if you have honestly striven to be of service in the community and have been imbued with loftier ideals than just the making of money, you will be happier for it. Everybody can share in the work of making the world a little better for having lived in it. With this ideal in view, not only will Christmas be a happy season, but the spirit of happiness will prevail to a larger Extremes in ocean travel were experienced recently by Baron van Hardenbroek van Lockhorst, Dutch nobleman who was in Canada purchasing black foxes for his ranch in Holland. He came to Canada on S.S. A romance of mining has been disclosed in Nova Scotia when a long abandoned mine was investigated and found to contain one of the richest gold leads ever discovered in the province. The mine had been worked with crude methods many years ago and then given up. New claims have now been filed and prospects are very encouraging. There are said to be many abandoned mines of rich possibilities in the province.

Carrying 295 passengers and a total of almost two million Japanese oranges, first cargo of the fruit to reach Canada this year, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia docked at Vancouver recently after a record trip from the Orient. The vessel had aboard a number of Canadian delegates to the Pacific Relations Conference held at Kyoto, Japan.

Direct contradiction of the opinion of Col. Frederick Palmer, American war correspondent, that it would be well for Christian churches to withdraw their missionaries from the Orient, has been voiced by Bishop W. H. Alnsworth, Macomb, Ga., who was a passenger recently on the S.S. Empress of Asia. "Christian missions to China and Japan were never doing better than at present," said the bishop who is in charge of Eastern Missions for the Methodist Episcopal Church of the Southern United States.

The province of Nova Scotia is on the threshold of a period of unprecedented development judging from the record business being handled during the current year by the Dominion Atlantic Railway, and the scope of the preparations now under way for the development of tourist traffic," says George E. Graham, vice-president and general manager of the railway, in a recent interview.

Total amount of life insurance carried by the people of Canada is estimated at 74,446,000 bushels from 548,239 acres, valued at $87,451,000 compared with $3,658,000 bushels in 1928 from 599,064 acres, valued at $40,874,000. Quebec province produced the most with 32,320,000 bushels.

The 1929 total yield of potatoes in Canada is estimated at 74,446,000 bushels from 548,239 acres, valued at $87,451,000 compared with $3,658,000 bushels in 1928 from 599,064 acres, valued at $40,874,000. Quebec province produced the most with 32,320,000 bushels.

Canada's Royal Agricultural Fair, largest of its kind on the American continent, opened for its eighth annual session on November 29 at Toronto with over 17,500 entries, a total that breaks all previous records. Two thousand two hundred exhibitors entered, including 500 from the United States.

Home Team Notched Victory on Monday

Coleman Came Back Strong in Opening Tilt With the Bellevue Bulldogs Monday.

A spirited game from start to finish was witnessed by an enthusiastic crowd of fans here on Monday, in the second game of the "Crow" series, when the locals won by a score of 4-1. Most of the familiar faces of last year are on the home team, the additions being Frank Velpava, of Blaimore, and Wilfrid Dutil, who were playing as defence. Bellevue also has equally as good a line-up as last year, and for the first period it was a toss-up as to which was the better team.

President Bowling and Bill Wright and Angelo were right on deck to give the boys a lift, and were well pleased with the result. It was a clean game, and will help to create interest in the next game here on Xmas Day, when the newly organized Lethbridge team will play here.

Gate, veteran defence player for Coleman, scored twice; Jimmy Fraser, Coleman centre player, twice, on assists from Lilya and Chapman, and Charlesworth scored the only goal for Bellevue.

The first period was scoreless. In the second Coleman scored the first goal, followed in less than a minute by Bellevue evening the score. Gate, just before the close of the period, added another. The only penalty of the game was drawn by Turner, of Bellevue, in this period.

In the third Fraser scored twice in quick succession, and though many shots were rained on the Bellevue goalie, Amos, he saved the score from being piled up against his team. Cologrosso in goal for Coleman was called on to defend his goal vigorously in the second period.

The line-up, Coleman: Cologrosso, goal; F. Velpava, W. Gate, defence; Jenkins, Fraser, Lilya, forwards; Kubin, Chapman, Dutil, subs.

Bellevue: Amos, goal; Dambois, Alsopp, defence; Brooks, Turner, Hallworth, forwards; Bonne, Hall and Charlesworth, subs.

Coleman hockey team in their first match of the season in the Crow league series, last Friday night, at Blaimore, worked under a disadvantage. They were defeated 6-0, despite the fact that they put up a stubborn opposition. They simply didn't get the lucky breaks.

A drive through deep snow on a sleigh, and exposure and heavy walking, put the boys under a handicap wash" in the game of Jan. 6 when it came to playing against their opponents.

There may not be so much "white-Blaimore plays here.

Peace On Earth, Goodwill Toward Men

"Interdependence," a monthly review published by the League of Nations Society, in Canada, has rendered a real service to Canada, and incidentally to the cause of world peace, by printing in its current issue the complete text of the magnificently inspiring speech delivered by the Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald, at the state dinner tendered him by the Government of Canada, in the House of Commons at Ottawa. Mr. MacDonald's message to the Canadian people, containing such a sincere and impassioned plea for international understanding and a will to peace, was listened to over the radio by hundreds of thousands of people in this country and the United States. That national service is now strengthened by the reprint of the full text of Mr. MacDonald's speech, thus enabling people to read this message again and ponder over it at their leisure.

This same issue of "Interdependence," which, by the way, is distributed to members of the League of Nations Society throughout Canada, or can be had for the trifling subscription price of one dollar a year, also contains the text of the address given by Roch Pinar, the 18-year-old Quebec boy, who won the International Oratorical Contest, held at Washington, D.C., before President Hoover, in October last. The subject of Roch Pinar's address was "Canada Among the Nations," and, like Premier MacDonald's speech, is one well worthy of the consideration of the people of this country. It will intensify a Canadian's pride in, and love for his Dominion. Equally important, and essential to that pride and love, it will further impress upon all readers the absolute necessity for the cultivation of understanding and goodwill among all classes of the Canadian population, based on knowledge, which alone can render ineffective those periodical appeals to passion and prejudice through which designing persons seek to sway the emotions of our people. Mutual understanding, mutual goodwill, mutual appreciation of each other's good qualities, must exist as the basis of peace and cordiality of relations among the various races which make up Canada's cosmopolitan population.

Domestic peace in Canada, it is hardly necessary to say, is the first requirement if this Dominion is to successfully play the role of peace protagonist among all the nations, and an effective member of the League of Nations. From the inception of the League of Nations, Canada has been one of its most influential members. The influence of this Dominion in the councils of the nations is far greater than its population and wealth and world power would accord it. That influence radiates from the successes already achieved by Canada in solving for itself some of the most vexatious problems now troubling other countries. That influence can be related and further extended to the extent only that Canadians themselves put into every day practice those rules of conduct which the maintenance of peace among all nations demands should be observed.

Canada stands for world peace. This fact is recognized by all nations. It is also recognized that as a people we have no ulterior motives in our membership in the League of Nations; that our purpose is solely to do a duty to serve others and further the cause of international goodwill and world peace. As a people we unhesitatingly and uncompromisingly bore our burden when an unwelcome war was forced upon mankind. We gave in unstinted measure, and we are paying our own bills without asking help from anybody. This is recognized and appreciated by other nations, and our influence is correspondingly great. So, too, is our responsibility. We must, therefore, first of all be true to ourselves, and to those ideals we advocate for adoption by all other peoples and nations.

Finally, "Interdependence" notes with satisfaction the offer of Premier Mackenzie King to provide suitable copies of the Briand-Kellogg pact outlawing war to Provincial Departments of Education which will undertake to distribute them to the schools, and to churches which will give it a place in their edifice. Unquestionably the future peace of the world depends on the determination in the minds of the people, consequently through the schools and churches can the next generation be reached. The pact, to which Canada's signature is attached, outlawing war as an instrument of national policy, should have a place on the walls of every church and school throughout this broad Dominion. It is a message of "Peace on earth, goodwill toward men."

Congratulates Winner

Herman Trellis Is Pleased That Red Spring Reward Wheat Takes Highest Honors

"Nobody is more pleased than I am over the fact that Joseph Smith, of Wolf Creek, Alberta, has won the world's wheat championship at Chicago," declared Herman Trellis, of Wembley, Peace River, former holder of the championship. "I am particularly pleased that Red Spring reward was the winning wheat."

It was recalled by Mr. Trellis that the district where the championship wheat was grown was not considered previously as a particularly good wheat country. The success attained by Mr. Smith, he added, showed that varieties of grain can be adapted for any conditions in Alberta and are bound to prove successful if the experiments are made by persons with the qualifications of the 1929 champion.

Clothing and Safety

Industrial Institutions Enforcing Rules Against Ragged Work Suits

Workmen on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad will henceforth wear form-fitting clothing. There were no more ragged sleeves, dangling tatters on shirts, or flapping shoe soles. The matter of neatness enters into the decision to enforce these regulations, but the greater factor is that of safety.

It is only within the last few years that the clothes of industry have come to a full realization of the danger that lies in loose and ragged clothing. Men working about moving machinery are in constant peril, if anything is dangling from their clothing which is likely to become caught in a belt or flywheel. The constantly increasing number of accidents from this cause finally taught its lesson, and more and more factories and other industrial institutions are enforcing rules of safe dressing.

As a matter of fact, a large part of safety in industry has to do with clothing.

Largest Free Tree Distribution

8,675,650 Trees Sent Out To Prairie Farmers In Spring Of 1929

The number of trees distributed in the spring of 1929 from the forest nurseries maintained by the Forest Service, Department of the Interior, at Indian Head and Sutherland, Saskatchewan, was the largest ever sent out in any one year. The total number of trees sent to farmers in the Prairie Provinces was 8,675,650—4,360,174 from the Indian Head nursery, and 4,315,476 from the Sutherland nursery. The total number of applicants who received trees was 7,452.

Making Survey For Gibraltar Tunnel

Work Likely To Involve Large Political As Well As Engineering Features

The work of examining the rock strata of the Straits of Gibraltar for a tunnel between Europe and Africa is under way, but while the attention of the committee is focused on its structural problems, the tunnel also has involved political and engineering features.

During the World War the captain general at Cadix, who now is Premier Primo de Rivera, made a speech at getting that Spain join the war on the side of the allies and that in return for this England should give Gibraltar back to Spain. The captain general lost his position for making this speech as an official. This was Primo de Rivera's first political speech.

When Primo de Rivera became dictator in 1923, no one remembered the action of the former captain general at Cadix. Spain always has had a secret desire to get Gibraltar back and it is expected the tunnel project will be an excuse to reopen the subject. It is obvious that if the premier made an arrangement to get Gibraltar back it would be an achievement that Spain never would forget.

A retrenchment program has been announced for Spain, and it is doubted that it would spend money on the tunnel for years. It is not expected that England would part with Gibraltar, but if the tunnel leads to the reopening of negotiations by which Spain would regain possession on the basis of a lease for 100 or 500 years, possibly with a renewal option, there would be great rejoicing at Madrid.

Pirates Ships Frustrated

Chinese Pirates Are Captured By Aid Of Wireless

The alertness of a wireless operator prevented the escape of Chinese pirates who killed the third officer of the steamer, "Hatching," attempted to loot the vessel and finally set fire to it.

Two British warships, the "Serapis" and "Sterling," arrived in answer to the "Hatching's" S.O.S., extinguished the fire and captured the pirates before they could get away. The two war craft towed the "Hatching" to Hong Kong, with all the pirates prisoners aboard.

The bandits laid their plans according to the regular system. They boarded the "Hatching" as regular passengers when the 2,000-ton vessel belonging to the Douglas Steamship Company, left Swatow for Hong Kong.

Early this morning they swarmed out and attacked the bridge. Members of the crew returned the fire and repulsed them. Third Officer K. A. Woodward died as the result of wounds and First Officer R. Perry also was wounded. Several of the pirates were killed.

Frustrated in their first attempt, the pirates set fire to the ship. They apparently still hoped to gain control, after which they would plunder the "Hatching" and escape in boats to the nearby shore. But they reckoned without the wireless operator and the warships.

The New World Bank

Will Do For International Finance What League Does For International Politics

To the second Hague conference now or soon to be in operative session, will be presented the completed report of the committee of experts appointed to frame the statutes and charter of the proposed Bank of International Settlement. Agreement followed long and protracted discussions, and as the headquarters of the bank have now been finally located at Zurich, Switzerland, early materialization of the project may be expected after the conference has adopted the report and otherwise ended the lengthy negotiations required to arrange the details of the new institution, as an integral factor in the German reparations settlement.

The bank, according to the present agreement, will not have as broad powers as have sometimes been suggested. It will simply take the place of the agent bank for reparations payments in handling the transfer of all sums between Germany and the Allies and will be empowered to supervise and assist in the commercialization of certain parts of the German annuities. It will reserve the power to perform various ordinary banking operations to facilitate its work, but it will always be constrained to act in strict conformity with the wishes of the central banks concerned. The dissent of any one of them would be sufficient to prevent its taking any proposed action.

If the political problems still remaining in connection with certain phases of the bank's trust agreement are satisfactorily worked out at this session of the League of Nations, it will thus be definitely incorporated in the Young Plan as it will be submitted to the nations concerned for the ratification of their respective Parliaments. A start will have been made to do for international finance what the League does for international law. If the bank's beginnings are somewhat humble, there is no telling the place it may some day come to hold in maintaining the peaceful balance of all international relations.

Advertising Canadian Apples

British Papers Urge People To Buy More Of Them

British doctors must be good fellows. They have uttered no word of protest against the tremendous influx of Canadian apples, although every season Canada is sending Great Britain about 150,000,000 pounds of apples. Far from being disturbed over this Canadian outpouring to keep the doctor away, they are doubtless continuing a handsome in the form of taxes to pay for the publicity of the Empire Marketing Board.

At the present time in British daily newspapers, display advertisements are urging the British consumers to "Buy Canadian Apples." Before instituting the campaign through the daily papers, the Empire Marketing Board inserted advertisements in the leading trade papers in Great Britain with the object of preparing the fruit trade for an increased demand for Canadian apples. In addition to the general advertisement in the papers with an aggregate circulation of nearly nineteen million readers, the Empire Marketing Board is sending out an instructive pamphlet full of news about Canadian apples from the time when the sturdy Scottish settler at Inverlochy, John McIntosh, in 1796, produced the first famous McIntosh Red. The pamphlet includes a number of recipes for serving Canadian apples in puddings, pies, tarts and other dishes.

Outwitted Police

Students of Ogdensburg, Hungary, who were resolved to conclude the demonstration of protest against the reparations payments, kept police at bay by singing the national anthem during their speeches. The police were forced, in accordance with army orders, to stand inactive at attention, while the singing continued.

Synthetic Gold

General Conditions Fundamentally Sound

Sir Charles Gordon, President, at Annual Meeting of Bank of Montreal, Draws Attention to Great Strides Made by Canada During Recent Years.

Sir Charles Gordon's presidential address at the annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal will exert a far-reaching influence upon economic conditions in Canada. In reviewing the business situation in Canada, Sir Charles referred to the unbroken expansion of the first ten months of the year and extending back over a five-year period, the most marked advance being in the field of mining, and he said that Canadian activity was such that the Canadian banks took no special advantage of the high rates offered in New York; their money was fully employed in the Dominion "and every legitimate need of this country was taken care of at much lower rates than prevailed in the United States."

There is good ground for general business confidence in Sir Charles Gordon's statement that no inflationary pressure in any of the basic commodities of Canadian commerce. He spoke frankly of such unfavorable influences as the reduction in the crop and its slow movement, and the collapse of stock market prices. On the other hand, mining and industrial development in the West, and branch-line railway construction, are beneficial influences, but idling has been at its peak; markets are being found for new developments of hydro-electric power, and while immigration shows a decline there is also a reduction in the loss through emigration. "Fundamental conditions are sound, and there is no reason for apprehension as to the ultimate future of Canada."

General Manager's Address

Mr. H. B. Mackenzie, the general manager, surveyed the bank's operations of the past year and made a diagnosis of actual economic conditions.

Mr. Mackenzie's analysis of the salient features of the balance sheet is not only convincing of a healthy growth in the volume of the bank's business and of its strong liquid position, but it is testimony also of a determination to continue the same sound and energetic management. "Our customers in all lines of production and commerce," he said, "have seen our cheques, and their needs have been fully supplied; but we have recently been continuing various applications, large and small, for loans against 'good collateral' but to be used for other than business purposes, generally the purchase of securities. These applications had become so numerous that they threatened to encroach upon the money needed to finance the country's business."

There is in the proceedings at the Bank of Montreal meeting abundant proof that credit is sound. "Business," Mr. Mackenzie said, "will be somewhat quieter while we are getting back to realities, but the realities in both countries—Canada and the United States—afford firm basis for a healthy optimism."

Commander Byrd Defended

British Explorers Cannot Understand Reported Charges Of Norwegian Airman

British explorers came to the defence of Commander Richard E. Byrd, against the reported charges of Major Trygve Gran, Norwegian airman and explorer who was a member of the Scott Antarctic expedition.

Major Gran was quoted in a Copenhagen despatch to the Daily Mail, as saying that the terrible mountains which Commander Byrd described were a fantasy.

Captain R. G. England, who commanded the "Nimrod" of Shackleton's first expedition in 1907, said he could not understand Major Gran's reported statement. "It is all the more extraordinary because Gran was one of Scott's men," said Capt. England. "It would be nothing short of a miracle if Scott men did not see mountains near the South Pole. On the east there is the Queen Alexandra range, 15,000 feet in height, and on the west the Queen Maud range which is about the same height. These mountains have been actually surveyed and measured."

Captain William Olbeck, who was a member of the Southern Cross Expedition of 1908-09, said: "It is well known there are mountains near the South Pole. Commander Byrd probably saw them from 100 miles away because of his height in his aeroplane. He was a magnificent flier."

WALL STREET IS HARD HIT BY MARKET SLUMP

New York. — A sudden flood of selling, striking with terrific impact in the last hour of trading, carried scores of issues on the New York Stock Exchange down $2 to $22 a share.

It was the sharpest reaction since November 15, the low point reached in the October-November panic, when 420 issues crashed to new low levels for the year. Today's sales were only 4,504,860 shares, but nearly 2,000,000 of those changed hands in the final hour.

Wall Street attributed the selling to a combination of unfavorable developments. These included the publication of a statement by Roger Babson, well known economist, that the recent advance in prices which recovered 40 per cent. of the ground lost in the break, was only a rally in a "major bear market"; the resumption of heavy gold exports to Great Britain, and the announcement of a sharp increase in the stocks of refined copper.

Mr. Babson correctly predicted the October-November break a few weeks before it actually happened, so that his latest comment on the market naturally aroused widespread uneasiness among investors and speculators alike. Heavy offerings of bearish professionals, who are reported to have been known their intentions to attack the market, also was regarded as an important factor.

To Protect Level Crossings

Board of Railway Commissioners Reserves Judgment After Investigations

Ottawa.—The Board of Railway Commissioners reserved judgment at the conclusion of its investigation into safety devices for level crossings. Producers of certain types of signals and automatic gates urged the board to adopt the type produced, while the representatives for the railway companies urged that the wig-wag and bell was the best signal so far provided and should be left in use.

The very great importance which is placed on this subject was indicated by the large number of representatives of various automobile associations, municipal bodies and provincial governments, as well as the many experts on behalf of the railways.

Arranging Trip To Orient

Plan Being Worked Out For Canadian Business Men

Montreal, Que.—A provincial itinerary for a businessmen's trip to the Orient next year, under the auspices of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, has been issued by Dr. John W. Ross, chairman of the executive committee of the chamber. The party will leave Vancouver on October 16, 1930, and will return to Canada on December 13. Dr. Ross stated the chamber was collaborating with the Canadian legation in Tokyo, the Canadian Government trade commissioner in Shanghai, and the Japanese legation at Ottawa is working out the plans for the trip.

No Agreement Reached

Return Of Natural Resources To Alberta Still Undecided

Ottawa.—No agreement was reached at the conference between Premier Mackenzie King and members of the Dominion cabinet with Premier J. E. Brownlee, premier of Alberta, on the return of the natural resources to Alberta. At the conclusion of the conference which lasted for two hours, Premier Brownlee said that the representations of Alberta had been made but would be put in written form and sent to the Dominion Government.

Another Grain Appeal Board Brandon, Man.—Fort William will soon have a grain appeal board, such as are established at Calgary and Edmonton, states Dr. D. A. ## Three Fighting For Earldom Of Egmont

Legal Battle To Prove Claim Opens In London

London, Eng.—A cowboy, a baker, and an optician opened their legal battle here to prove their conflicting claims to the Earldom of Egmont.

The cowboy is Frederick Joseph Trevelyan Percival, 56, for 28 years a rancher in Alberta, Canada. The baker is James William Percival, 65, a resident of London, and the father of six children.

The optician is Robert Pownall, an old-age pensioner of Haydock, Lancashire.

Whoever wins the three-cornered fight will become Earl of Egmont. Baron Percival, Baron Arden and Baron Lovell and Holland. The value of the estates to which he will succeed is estimated at from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

The rival claimants to the Egmont title and fortune have searched the family records back to 1733, when the title was granted. In their attempt to fill several blank spaces in the Percival genealogical table and thus substantiate their individual claims they have carried their investigations as far as Australia.

Three Perish In Arctic

Word Was Brought Out By Major L. T. Burwash

Ottawa, Ont.—News of the death of three natives of Scotland occurring in the Canadian Arctic was brought out by Major L. T. Burwash, of the Northwest Territories branch of the Department of the Interior, who arrived in Ottawa at the end of an 18-month trip, which took him along the northern coast of Canada from Akivik to Boothia Peninsula.

Harold Luca, of the Hudson's Bay Company, was swallowed up by a raging blizzard seven miles off shore of Gjoa Haven. Ian McKay Christie, also of the Hudson's Bay Company, died at Bathurst Post under similar circumstances after Lewis T. ("Sim") Rader, engineer of the Ptarmigan. Major Burwash's boat, had half carried and half dragged him across the frozen wastes for 30 hours. Another man, recruited by the Hudson's Bay Company, from Scotland, died on Coronation Gulf after he had broken through newly formed ice, over which he was walking. The freezing water gradually exhausted him.

Says All Are Insane

Dividing Line Between Sanity and Insanity Difficult To Detect

Windsor, Ont.—Everyone is insane, according to Dr. G. R. Cruickshanks, government inspector in insanity for the past 20 years, in a statement made here recently in an explanation of the remarks he made in Supreme Court at Sandwich, before Mr. Justice J. M. McEvoy, that over 1,000 insane people walked the streets of Windsor. "There is no line of demarcation between sanity and insanity," said the doctor. "The line is a matter of degree. Some people are insane in the opinion of others, and yet might be regarded by the vast majority as being in full possession of their senses. It is often a matter to be decided by judges rather than doctors. There is no real distinction between sanity and insanity. Some of our most valuable citizens are 'cranks' and yet their work in life is very useful."

The doctor continued, however: "Some people, of course, had to have institutional care. We have to draw a line where we think that they will be benefited by such treatment."

Fort Chipewyan Gets Mail

Edmonton.—December 11 was mail day at Fort Chipewyan far up in the northeast corner of Alberta. Two planes of Commercial Airways, Ltd., made the 100 mile jump from Fort McMurray to Chipewyan on Lake Athabasca. They carried the first consignment, half a ton of air mail, under the Dominion plan which will bear letters to within the Arctic circle.

May Appoint Princess Mary

Victoria, B.C.—Intimation that Princess Mary is expected to be appointed Colonel-in-Chief of the 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment at an early date, was given by Col. Cyrus Peck, V.C., in an "editorial" which he reviewed his recent visit to England to attend the banquet tendered holders of the Victoria Cross.

Was Well Known Merchant

Vancouver, B.C.—Charles Hamilton Carroll, aged 77, well known as a merchant in various parts of Saskatchewan, until his retirement six months ago, is dead here. Funeral services were held Dec. 12, with interment in Ocean View Cemetery. Mr. Carroll was born in Warwick, Lambton County, Ont.

Opposing U.S. Entry Into World Court

New Arrangement Does Not Satisfy Group in Senate

Washington, D.C.—Opposition to the new plan for United States entry into the World Court, as determined as that which met the original proposal for the adherence of the Washington Convention, is developing in the senate.

The group of senators that three years ago voted against the United States becoming allied with the international tribunal, even under the reservations then attached, is apparently as much dissatisfied with the new arrangement as it was with the old.

How much of a factor in the senate's final vote this opposition will be, of course, remains to be determined, but notice has been given by the group, that the modification of the court's rules of procedure, effected in an effort to facilitate United States entry, is unacceptable.

AUBURN PRISON RIOT QUELLED BY STATE TROOPS

Auburn, N.Y.—A beaten, sullen group of convicts saw the law wrenched from its grasp control of Auburn prison, gained during the day at the cost of eight prisoner's lives and the death of the principal keeper.

The second attempt within five months of a chosen group of desperate men to gain their freedom in a prison break collapsed under the gunfire of three hundred besiegers. Holding absolute control of the prison at the outbreak of the trouble, with Warden Edgar S. Jennings and seven guards in the hands as hostages, the convicts watched their plans go awry until night fall found their ring-leaders dead and the survivors in their cells awaiting the search of state police.

The prison's principal keeper, George A. Durnford, died in an attempt to fight off the attackers at the inception of the riot.

The collapse of the convicts' plans began when state troopers whisked from their hands, under cover of a gas attack, life wardens and guards and ended when a concerted drive of the besiegers hurled them from the main gate into a remote corner of the south cell block.

The first word of trouble reached Warden Jennings at 10 a.m. He left his office, went to the prison kitchen to check the report and was seized as he started back to the office.

Prodded along by a revolver in the hands of one of the three convicts, the warden approached three unsuspecting guards who were disarmed and forced to open the doors of the punishment cells, in a similar manner, other guards were captured.

Principal keeper Durnford appeared on the scene and the convicts attempted to capture him also. Falling in the three of the mutineers shot him and left him lying on the back hallway into which they shoved their prisoners. Durnford dragged himself out of reach and was helped by an unidentified convict. He reached the prison hospital but died a few minutes later.

Royal York Buys Champs

In order to ensure a full header for the coming festive season the Royal York Hotel entered the list of buyers at the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, and secured the special carload lot of champion steers which created a great sensation among cattle experts throughout the fair. This champion herd of fifteen hand-picked steers, bred and raised on the famed MacIntyre ranch in southern Alberta, weighed in at slightly under 1200 lbs. apiece, and was herded on all sides as the finest bunch of beef cattle ever to have been finished in Canada. ## Using Tractors On Desert

French and Chinese Scientists Conducting Expedition Without Camels

Peking.—Gasol-powered tractors are to replace camels on a desert expedition being organized by French and Chinese scientists to cover unexplored parts of North China and Indo-China next year. The purpose of the trip is to carry on scientific research and is to be conducted jointly by the National Scientific Union of China and the Citroen Motor Car Company of France.

The Chinese expedition is to start from Peking in February and plans to meet up with the French explorers, now in Persia, after the tractor brigade has crossed Russian Turkistan.

Takes Name Of Benefactor

Russian Youth, Follower Of Late War, — Becomes Canadian Citizen

Barrie, Ont.—An 11-year-old Polish lad, starved, clad in filthy rags and broken by overwork, found his way to an encampment of Canadian soldiers at Boroka, Siberia, at the time of the Russian revolution, 12 years ago. Grown to manhood, John Petokosky applied yesterday to Judge Winder for naturalization papers and he adopted the name of George Harvey, the name of the Canadian soldier who had proved his principal friend in the old days and who had seen him established in Canada. George Harvey, the first, was in court to corroborate Petokosky's strange story.

Goodwin Returns East

Last Member Of MacAlpine Party Leaves For Home In Hamilton

The Pas, Man.—Don Goodwin, the last member of the lost and found MacAlpine party to remain in the north, has left for his home in Hamilton, Ont., accompanied by Dr. Donald Bruce, of The Pas, who has attended him ever since rescuers took charge of the party at Cambridge Bay.

Goodwin, suffering from frozen feet when he arrived here, had three toes amputated and has been resting since the operation.

Are Close To Agreement

Alberta Hopes To Reach Settlement On Resources Question

Ottawa.—The Province of Alberta and the Dominion Government are close to an agreement as to the conditions for the return of the natural resources to the province, Premier J. E. Brownlee and colleagues put forward recently, and Premier Brownlee is remaining over, in Ottawa, to have further conference with Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Some time ago the Dominion government announced that on the basis of the finding of the commission which investigated the return of the natural resources to Man tobs, it was prepared to make a corresponding offer to the Province of Alberta. At the time it was explained that this meant that Alberta would get back its natural resources and the subsidy to that province from the Federal Government would be continued and increased as the population of the province increased.

The negotiations are not so simple as would appear on the surface, however, because Alberta finds herself in a very different position from what Mackenzie King. One difference is that in Alberta there are immense national parks, comprising some five million acres, as to be as much as all the other national parks of Canada put together. These parks include some valuable coal deposits. This requires special consideration.

Plan Additional Ships For Canadian Trade

Government Has Taken The Matter Under Consideration

Ottawa.—The Canadian Government has under consideration on the establishment of several additional steamship services for the promotion of Canadian trade abroad, Hon. James Macdonald, Minister of Trade and Commerce, announced. This was an outcome of the success which followed the inauguration of the new government subsidized steamship freight service between British Columbia ports and Australia. Tenders have been called for services from eastern Canadian ports to India, Ceylon and East Africa.

Japan Would Keep Subs

But Is Willing To Co-Operate In Armament Reduction

Victoria, B.C.—Reiji Wakatsuki and Admiral Takagaki, heading the Japanese delegation to the forthcoming London disarmament conference, asserted that their country would go as far toward reducing its naval force as any other power.

The party are on their way to Washington before proceeding to London for the conference, which starts next month.

The former premier said his country desired to keep submarines as a naval weapon.

LABOR PARTY IN BRITAIN FACING POSSIBLE DEFEAT

London, England.—Britain's Labor Government will be challenged in the House of Commons before Christmas on its unemployment policy, and as it is in the minority by 39, there is a real possibility of defeat on the question of the party policy.

Details of the schemes so far produced by Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal, have failed to give any satisfaction to the Opposition parties, and the huge figure of unemployed—1,302,900, despite opportunities of seasonal employment before December 25—is contrasted with Mr. Thomas' plans which visualize a year's work for only 183,900.

In this connection on Prem or Ramsey MacDonald has agreed to having the question of the Lord Privy Seal's salary debated in the Commons before Christmas, and this occasion will enable the employment problem to be reviewed by all parties.

The Conservative and Liberal newspapers stress the inadequacy of Mr. Thomas' plans, although they sympathize with the tremendous task confronting him. The Conservatives are making the most of the opportunity to show that Labor cannot fulfill its election pledges, and the Liberals to demonstrate that Lloyd George's schemes as the only possible hope of solving the pressing problem of what to do with the hundreds of thousands without work.

Meanwhile pertinacious and persistent Empire crusaders are enrolling members of the public to pledge themselves to support the Empire as the only way to overcome the present economic difficulties and distress.

BRITISH ARMY OF OCCUPATION LEAVES GERMANY

Wiesbaden, Germany.—Some reminiscence of the first Armistice Day celebration was evoked here after the Union Jack had been hoisted down from British headquarters and the last British soldiers had evacuated the Rhinefeld.

Residents of the city held their joy within bounds until after the troops were on their way. Then they cut loose. Strangers meeting in the streets clasped hands in congratulation and the cafes were jammed with celebrators who continuously toasted each other and the Fatherland.

The Union Jack came down from its staff over the Hotel Hohenzollern at 2 o'clock this afternoon. At the same hour another small British detachment was leaving Bingen-on-the-Rhine.

Here in Wiesbaden the company of British Fusiliers mounted guard at the approach of the color-bearers and the detachment then passed in review before Lieut.-General Sir William Thwaites, British commander, for the last time on German soil.

There was a long roll from the drums and the military band struck up "God Save the King" as the British flag fluttered down from the staff. Then the troops wheeled into column and marched to the station, where they entrained at 3:30 p.m.

Besides General Thwaites and his staff, the ceremony was watched by General Guillaumet, commander of the French troops in the Rhinefeld, and his chief of staff. A detachment of French cavalry was drawn up before the railway station.

Sir William held a farewell reception in the drawing room of the station to say farewell to his French guests of honor. The only British official remaining in the Rhinefeld is William Seely, British commissioner on the Inter-Allied Rhinefeld high commission since 1928. He will remain in Germany until termination of all occupation of the third zone.

With the departure of the last British garrison, the number of allied troops in the Rhinefeld has been decreased within a few months by 25,000.

Vancouver.—A crusade for greater markets for British Columbia lumber products was started recently by four Vancouver business men who sailed for the Antipodes on board the "Aorangi." They are J. G. Robins, T. Gadd, Major L. R. Andrews, and J. H. McDonald.

The four will study Australian and New Zealand requirements, will address various organizations, interview business and government heads and make extensive investigations.

Protest From Britishers

Resent German Practice Of "Dumping" Cereals Into Old Land

London, England.—The British foreign office should make representations to Germany indicating unfairness of the German practice of "dumping" cereals into Great Britain, urged the agricultural committee of the conservative parliamentary party, meeting in the parliament buildings to consider the importations of cereals from Germany under the bounty system. The importation in large quantities was a breach of the spirit, if not of the letter, of the mutual obligations which had been entered into, the committee added.

An Important Decision

Judge Rules R.C.M.P. Have Authority To Enforce Provincial Law

The Pas, Man.—Royal Canadian Mounted Police have the authority to enforce provincial law as well as federal statutes, according to a decision handed down here by Judge A. L. Bonnycastle, of Dauphin judicial district. The decision upheld a judgment by Magistrate J. Ridyard.

The case arose out of a claim by defendant that a mounted police officer did not have the right to stop a motor vehicle.

Freight crews during the past week have been having a trying time in getting over the road. On Monday the way freight which runs from Macleod to Crows Nest, and which leaves Macleod at 7:30 a.m., pulled out from Coleman at 11 p.m. to complete its run to Crows Nest. On the passenger trains double headers are now quite frequent. On Friday it is reported that rain near Crows Nest froze in the snow plow, causing difficulties in getting it started again.

Frank Graham must have almost as many lives as the proverbial cat, which is credited with having at least nine. On Monday he was cleaning off the roof of his son's house on Fourth street, when he slipped and tore the lower part of his overcoat so badly that he cut it off and made a short coat of it. Starting in again, he very soon slipped again, and this time he caught on a nail as he fell, which ripped the coat from stem to gudgeon, and Frank was suspended by the collar, twirling for a moment like a pirate hanging on the yardarm. But he finished cleaning that roof. His language was not too awful had as he told his experiences.
